DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

Applicant's Pre Brief request and arguments filed (specifically page 2) on January 06, 2006, with respect to Claims 1-31 have been fully considered and are persuasive. Therefore, the rejection dated July 29, 2005 has been withdrawn.

Allowable Subject Matter

Claims 1-31 are allowed.

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

The system of cited prior art discloses method of an asynchronous transfer mode cell processing system with scoreboard scheduling. A primary scoreboard 100 represents the cell schedule and includes a group of bits arranged in a number of 16-bit lines (col. 16, lines 57-59). A connection ID table 110 includes a 16-bit entry for each of the bits in the primary scoreboard (col. 16, lines 62-64). Each entry in the connection ID table 110 represents a cell time slot in a given ATM transmission link, and either contains a connection ID for a given schedule VC (virtual circuit), or contains no connection ID if the corresponding cell time slot is unscheduled and thus available (col. 17, lines 1-5).

The system of cited prior art does not teach, as expressly recited in independent Claims 1, 9, 17, 26, and subsequent dependent claims, 1) a hardware schedule table to schedule connections of traffic in a network having entries corresponding to the connections, 2) N logical schedule tables created from the hardware schedule table, 3) the N logical schedule tables being separated by table delimiters and operating independently of one another, 4) each of the table delimiters corresponding to at least one unused entry in the hardware schedule table, and 5) an identifier being assigned to an available entry in one of the N logical schedule tables. Therefore, neither the connection ID table nor the scoreboard table of the cited prior art is the same as the N logical tables that was created from hardware schedule table.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Syed Zia whose telephone number is 571-272-3798. The examiner can normally be reached on 9:00 to 5:00.
